The first report to be released will be results of ballots cast during absentee and early voting. These results are expected to be available around 7:30 p.m. on Election night.

With voters able to cast a ballot at any voter center in the county, results will be simultaneously updated from different precincts. Vote Center results will be aggregated with precinct totals from other vote centers and added to results from absentee and early voting.

Vote totals will increase throughout the evening until results from the last reporting vote center have been tabulated and uploaded.
